

Christopher Rizzo Joins Panel to Discuss Exploring Sustainable Solutions for Enhancing NYC Parks Funding

February 07, 2024

NYC Parks: Christopher Rizzo served on the February 7, 2024 panel discussion of the Center for an Urban Future, City Parks Foundation and NYC Green Fund regarding the Center's new report "Paying for Parks: Generating New Revenues to Support NYC's Parks and Open Space." The discussion focused on the Report and its twenty ideas for creating alternative revenue streams for parks and public open space outside the NYC budget process. Panelists included Deputy Mayor Meera Joshi, Center director Jonathan Bowels, Adam Ganser of New Yorkers for Parks, Heather Lubov of the City Parks Foundation, Morgan Monaco of the Prospect Park Alliance, Julie Tighe of the NY League of Conservation Voters, NYC Parks Commissioner Susan Donoghue and Councilman Shekar Krishnan.

Chris is a partner and the Director of the Firm's Environmental and Land Use Practice. Learn more here.

The report is available at Paying for the Growing Needs of NYC's Parks: 20 Fresh Ideas to Fund Parks and Open Spaces | Center for an Urban Future \(CUF\) \(nycfuture.org\). And Chris' prior writing on the topic can be found at Christopher Rizzo | Carter Ledyard & Milburn LLP \(clm.com\).

related professionals

Christopher Rizzo / Partner

D 212-238-8677

rizzo@clm.com
