Securities Attorney and Carter Ledyard Counsel Valentino Vasi was quoted in an article published by the Bank Insurance & Securities Association (BISA) regarding best practices and suggestions for improving cybersecurity policies for financial services firms. When asked about how firms can enact tighter policies, Mr. Vasi suggested, "Organizations need to track who has access and privileges to systems and data and be able to track their activity ... Otherwise, there may be red flags but no way to spot them." Vasi went on to explain that "Regular risk assessments allow firms to make changes to prevent or correct identified risks."
